

Meeting Tomorrow is the leading provider of audio visual services and solutions for pharmaceutical and CME (Continuing Medical Education) meetings and events. We specialize in providing AV service, expertise and equipment that help you maximize your meeting investment.

What We Do

We offer both do-it-yourself small meeting equipment rentals, and full service audio-visual services for a wide range of pharmaceutical meetings and events, including: conferences, symposiums, dinner meetings, web conferences, product launches, satellite broadcasts and more.

Dinner Meetings

Meeting Tomorrow provides full-service AV solutions for your dinner meeting programs nationwide. Our highly-trained technicians will set-up your equipment and provide any onsite support required. We deliver, set-up and support all the equipment you need for your dinner meetings. We also provides cost-effective, self-service AV solutions for pharmaceutical and CME dinner meeting series. These elegant presentation kits make setting up projectors, screens and portable PA systems a cinch (really!), and are designed for easy set-up by meeting planners and pharmaceutical sales representatives.

Satellite Broadcasts

When you need to deliver live communications to an important audience, there is no medium that delivers your high-value message like satellite-quality video. And no one does it better than Meeting Tomorrow. Whether you require a satellite broadcast for a product launch, internal communications, CME or any other purpose, Meeting Tomorrow is your single-source solution provider to manage every aspect of your program.

Web Conferencing & Webcasts

Meeting Tomorrow provides an interactive platform for delivering CME and other communications to your audience on-demand. Increasingly, clients also choose Meeting Tomorrow for webcasting as an economical and versatile alternative to satellite broadcasting for live messages.

Conferences & Symposia

When you choose Meeting Tomorrow as your audio-visual partner for your medical conference or symposium, we'll listen to your requirements, match you with the right equipment and services, and work tirelessly on your behalf to ensure a successful event. You'll have a dedicated project manager to work with you from project inception through the event. Our clients choose us because we provide a level of service and project ownership that a hotel just can't - and at a cost that meets your budget. And when you work with us, there's never a surprise on your invoice. The price we quote for your event is the price you'll pay.